Biographical Sketch

Jerome Vincent Jacobsen was born in Chicago on September 27, 1894, the eldest son of James and Catherine Jacobsen, and attended both St. Ignatius High School and Loyola University from 1909 to 1915. In 1915 he entered the Society of Jesus and was ordained in 1928. He received his A.B. from Gonzaga University in 1921 and an M.A. in Philosophy in 1922; an M.A. in History from St. Louis University in 1927; and a Ph.D. in History from the University of California, Berkley, in 1934, where he worked under Herbert E. Bolton, a noted Latin Americanist.

Upon his return to Loyola University Chicago in 1934, he was a professor in the History department, specializing in United States and Latin American history; superior of the Loyola Jesuit community; member of Loyola's board of trustees; director of the Institute of Jesuit History and editor of its journal, Mid-America, a position he held for over 30 years. Among his publications were Educational Foundations of the Jesuits in the 16th Century Spain (1938) and numerous articles to various journals. As editor of Mid-America, Fr. Jacobsen oversaw the growth of the journal from one dedicated solely to the history of Jesuits in the Mississippi Valley area, to one that included articles from historians in all fields.

Jerome V. Jacobsen, S.J., passed away at the Jesuit residence of Loyola University Chicago on August 19, 1970.
