Biographical Sketch

Julia A. Lane was born on the West Side of Chicago in 1927. She received her diploma in Nursing from St. Joseph Hospital in 1954; in addition she earned a Public Health Certificate from the University of Chicago. She worked as a staff nurse at St. Joseph's as well as for the Chicago Board of Health from 1954 to 1957. In 1956 she completed a Bachelor's of Nursing degree at DePaul University, and then began teaching nursing at South Chicago Community Hospital in 1957. Following her Master's of Science in Nursing from Catholic University of America in 1960, she became the Director of Nursing Education at South Chicago Community Hospital.

Julia Lane began her career at Loyola University in 1963 as an assistant professor in the Department of Maternal and Child Health. She became the Director of the Graduate Program in Nursing in 1971 and in 1974 she was named acting dean of the School of Nursing. During this time Lane completed her Ph.D. in Guidance and Counseling at Loyola. In 1975 Dr. Lane was named the dean of the School of Nursing. During her sixteen year tenure as Dean, the School of Nursing grew from three to seven areas of specialization in Nursing; began a doctoral program in Nursing; and the number of students and faculty increased. Stepping down as Dean in 1991, Julia Lane continued to teach in the School of Nursing until her retirement in 1994.

Throughout her years of teaching and administrative work at Loyola, Dean Lane was active on a number of University committees. She served on both the Graduate and Undergraduate Curriculum Committees, and from 1977 to 1979 she served as the chair of the Graduate Curriculum Committee. She also served on search committees for the Deans in the University College, the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Medical School.

Dean Lane was active in professional organizations on the local and national level including the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, the National League of Nursing, and the Illinois Nurses Association and, reflecting her interest in Catholic education, she founded the Jesuit Conference of Schools of Nursing.

Julia Lane passed away on October 15, 2004.
