Please note: this is an Engaged Learning course, approved for the Service-Learning category, satisfying the Loyola University Chicago Engaged Learning requirement. All students must complete the service-learning experience and related assignments in order to successfully pass this course.

Course Description

Markets move faster than marketing. Based on rigorous research, our Fundamentals of Marketing course provides the latest tools, techniques and leading-edge thinking to teach you how to create the marketing mix and retain a company's competitive edge. Fundamentals of marketing teaches students the basics of marketing they would need to know for introductory business courses, or if they're curious to see how marketing works behind the scenes. Students will learn about branding, marketing strategies, marketing plans, the consumer decision process, the product life cycle, recent consumer trends, how to target specific markets, global marketing, and much more. I provide many real-world examples to help students apply the content to everyday life and business news.

This course, through an experiential approach and Service Learning engagement, will help students to appreciate the difference between a tactical and strategic approach to marketing. Students will leave equipped with a strategic framework and an understanding of the key online/offline marketing activities that drive value.

The course uses undergraduate level business case studies from Harvard Business School, Insead Business School, IMD Business School, Stanford University, to present the fundamentals in Marketing strategy.

Learning Outcomes

On completion of the course, students should be able to:

1. Identify the distinctive characteristics, role and online/offline activities of strategic marketing.
3. Critically assess an example strategic marketing plan.
5. Facilitate the strategic marketing planning process in an organization.
6. Identify the needs of a local non-profit organization and develop a strategic digital program to support them.
7. Develop persuasive verbal and written communication skills and build up the abilities to work in teams.
8. Gain an understanding of ethics practices of Business—its proper role for the marketer and the consumer.

The course will emphasize two kinds of skill: Analytical skills, which are required for marketing strategy formulation; and Administrative skills, which are required for implementation. The course will begin with the analytical skills and then move on to implementation issues. More than one case will integrate both marketing strategy formulation and implementation issues.

Course Method

In this course, you'll discuss case studies of Marketing Management leaders such as Amazon, Unilever, Nike, Sephora. To connect classroom discussions with your current challenges, each day will include an interactive wrap-up session designed for collaborative learning. Classes will be as interactive and challenging as possible. Consider each class as a simulation of a Board of Directors' meeting. Consequently, you are required to be punctual, well prepared, energetic and eager to convey your business views. Discussion in this class is a main learning tool. Note that this applies to all class activities: lectures, case studies, team and individual exercises. For a successful learning experience, timely reading, study, and active class participation are essential. All chapters, cases and other readings should be completed BEFORE class on the dates assigned. This allows for meaningful discussions during classes. As a result, you will have the opportunity to involve yourself in the class discussion and to ask questions. To facilitate the discussions, I provide in the syllabus the questions that cover the most important topics for each case study. During the quarter, you will work in teams on a number of cases covering key issues in marketing management.

Criteria for Evaluation of Written Assignments

All the written assignments must be typed, 12 points, "Times New Roman" font, single spaced.

An "excellent" paper should prove:

- a thorough analysis of the key issues with the ability to apply and integrate the course's concepts
- appropriate structure with a logic flow of ideas
- relevant presentation and style with an excellent usage of the English language.

Technology

The use of technology (i.e. laptops) in the classroom will be permitted as long as these devices are used for classroom related activities and do not distract from the lecture or class discussion. If at any point the use of these devices becomes problematic to the class, all such devices will be banned for the remainder of the semester. Cell phones should always be turned off or on silent and NEVER used during class.

Readings and Business Cases (Required)

- Readings: I have selected readings for each topic, and you must read them according to the class schedule. Some of the readings will be available as PDF files in Sakai, while others are available on different websites (I provide the links for those in the syllabus) or in the course-pack link below.
- Professor Affinito Power Point Slide Collection, in Sakai.
- Cases: I have selected cases for each topic, and you must analyze them according to the class schedule. The selection of cases will be available in the course-pack link below.
- The selection of readings and cases (not available in Sakai/syllabus) will be available in the following course-pack link:

<https://hbsp.harvard.edu/import/1160432>

Please find here the instructions to access the course-pack material.

N.B. As this syllabus could be subject to change, readings/cases are set as "optional" to allow students to purchase items individually.

Sakai

Sakai is the Learning Management System (LMS) at LUC, designed to help faculty and students share ideas, collaborate on assignments, discuss course readings and materials, submit assignments, and much more - all online. As a LUC student, you should familiarize yourself with this important tool. For more information and training resources for using LUC, click here.

Textbook (Recommended)

Kotler, Philip; Armstrong, Gary, "Principles of Marketing", Pearson Education, (online version). Copy on reserve in the Rome library. Ask at the Circulation Desk. You could buy your book here.

Attendance Policy

In accordance with the JFRC mission to promote a higher level of academic rigor, all courses adhere to the following absence policy. Prompt attendance, preparation and active participation in course discussions are expected from every student. For all classes meeting twice a week, students cannot incur more than two absences.

This course meets twice a week, thus a total of two (2) absences will be permitted. Absences beyond these will result in 1% lowering of the final course grade, for every absence after the "approved limit". The collective health of the JFRC is everyone's responsibility. DO NOT ATTEND CLASS IF YOU ARE ILL.

Artificial Intelligence use

Use of AI tools, including ChatGPT, is permitted in this course for students who wish to use them. To adhere to our scholarly values, students must cite any AI-generated material that informed their work (this includes in-text citations and/or use of quotations, and in your reference list). Using an AI tool to generate content without proper attribution qualifies as academic dishonesty.

DEI

It is my intent that students from all diverse backgrounds and perspectives be well served by this course, that students' learning needs be addressed both in and out of class, and that the diversity that students bring to this class be viewed as a resource, strength and benefit. It is my intent to present materials and activities that are respectful of diversity: gender, sexuality, disability, age, socioeconomic status, ethnicity, race, and culture. Your suggestions are encouraged and appreciated.

Pronouns

All people have the right to be addressed and referred to in accordance with their personal identity. In this class, we will have the chance to indicate the name that we prefer to be called and, if we choose, to identify pronouns with which we would like to be addressed...I will do my best to address and refer to all students accordingly.

Case Study Reports for missed classes

The case study is an excellent learning method. A case will help understand the specific strategic marketing challenges and build essential decision making skills. For each case study, students who miss a class will turn in a report of maximum two pages (Times New Roman, 12- font size, single spaced). One extra page is allowed for tables and figures (if needed).

You should address each question individually and not just provide a general answer for all requested questions. The report is due at the beginning of each class with case discussion.

Assessment Components

Service Learning

The project-based Service Learning component of the course, which should total at least 20 hours, requires students to engage with Ombre e Luci to assess their needs and develop a digital strategy, aiming at the creation of a digital marketing plan. Connected to the nonprofit organization Associazione Fede e Luce onlus, Ombre e Luci is a faith-based magazine for families and friends of people with disabilities committed to promoting inclusion and accessibility through its publishing and multimedia content. It is currently seeking to target an English-speaking audience with its inclusivity message and achieve its fundraising objectives.

Brand awareness is at the top of the priority list of a nonprofit marketer challenged to grow his/her prospect list with limited funding. Luckily, digital marketing for nonprofits has changed the name of the game. Nonprofit digital marketing has opened up a world of opportunities for causes trying to get the most out of their budgets. Nonprofit organizations can cut down substantially on overhead costs by eliminating costly print collateral. Plus, their potential reach has never been so large. You can reach supporters across the globe in a matter of mere seconds, whether they're promoting matching gifts or sharing volunteering opportunities. From social media to email marketing, there are so many incredible, low-cost options to make a cause known.

Upon understanding Ombre e Luci's inclusion message and its social justice relevance, students will engage in the creation of a digital marketing plan aimed at helping Ombre e Luci pursue their fundraising objectives.

The Service Learning portion of the course will be assessed on the following digital marketing plan creation skills:

1. Analytical skills in understanding the social and organization's needs as demonstrated in the plan's situation analysis.
2. Problem-solving and creativity skills through the proposal of relevant recommendations in the action plan.
3. Team-work through students' participation and cooperation.
4. Presentation skills at different stages of plan development.
5. Four written reflections integrating project experience and class content.

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty are unacceptable at the JFRC and will be dealt with in accordance with Loyola University Chicago's guidelines. Please familiarize yourself with Loyola's standards here:

http://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg\_academicintegrity.shtml. You are responsible to comply with the LUC Student Handbook.

Late or Missed Assignments

Late or missed assignments will not be accepted for grading without the authorization of the instructor.

| Week 14Day 212/12 | FINAL EXAM                 | The examination will be a combination of questions and a case study.Details to be announced.   |

Please note that the above mentioned business case studies can be subject to change during the course. Each student is responsible for keeping himself/herself informed with those changes even when the student is absent for class. Failure to come to class without having read your assigned case-studies and/or completing your “Case Study Paper” is inexcusable and grounds for failing the course.
